9.1 Bylaw No. 391 - Land Use Bylaw – Cannabis and Cannabis Production

Recommendation: Discussion and direction from Council

Overview:

During the Delegations portion of the November 10, 2026 Regular Council Meeting, Council will receive additional information about cannabis production in the Village of Spring Lake and the cannabis-related provisions of the Village's current Land Use Bylaw.

The delegation first appeared before Council on September 8, 2026, and requested that Council waive the applicable application fee so an application could be submitted to amend the Land Use Bylaw to permit cannabis production within the Village. At the October 13, 2026 Regular Council Meeting, the delegation advised Council that it would make a presentation at the November 10 meeting.

This item is listed separately on the agenda following the delegation so Council can consider the presentation alongside the information received at the previous meetings and determine how it wishes to proceed. Council may choose one of the following options.

- Waive or reduce the applicable fee and require the applicant to submit a Land Use Bylaw amendment application.
- Require the applicant to follow the standard Land Use Bylaw amendment application process and pay the applicable fee.
- Direct Administration to prepare a proposed Land Use Bylaw amendment for Council's consideration.

Any proposed amendment would be subject to the statutory bylaw amendment process, including Council consideration and a public hearing. A decision on the application fee or a direction to Administration to prepare an amendment would be a preliminary step. Approval of any proposed amendment would require a separate decision by Council.

Recommended Motion(s):

Will be based upon discussions of Council.

Frequently Asked Questions:

Employee Compensation Disclosure Requirements

Municipal Affairs is developing the processes, forms, and supporting guidance required to implement the municipal employee compensation disclosure requirements. Additional guidance and implementation resources will be provided to municipalities in advance of the first reporting deadline of June 30, 2027.

When do the employee compensation disclosure requirements take effect?

After submitting compensation information to the Minister under Section 215.2(6) of the Municipal Government Act (MGA), municipalities must publish compensation information on or before June 30, 2027, for compensation received during the 2026 calendar year, in accordance with Section 215.2(1).

What is the compensation disclosure threshold?

The threshold is established under the Public Sector Compensation Transparency Act (PSCTA); for 2026 compensation, the threshold is $130,000.

Is the disclosure threshold calculated using an employee's T4 income?

Part 6.1 of the MGA requires municipalities to determine whether an employee exceeds the disclosure threshold based on compensation paid or payable during the calendar year. The legislation does not require municipalities to use a specific T4 box for this purpose. While T4 information may assist in some cases, municipalities should determine whether the threshold has been exceeded based on the legislative definition of compensation and the requirements of Part 6.1.

Do municipalities also have to submit the information to the province?

Yes, municipalities must provide compensation information to the Minister before publication in a form and manner determined by the Minister. The submission process and supporting tools are under development.

What must municipalities publish?

Municipalities must publish compensation information for employees whose compensation and severance exceeds the applicable threshold. For disclosure purposes, compensation and non-monetary benefits must be shown separately. This information includes:

- the employee's name and position, appointment, or classification;
- the amount of compensation received from the municipality in the previous year, if any;
- the total amount or value of non-monetary benefits received from the municipality in the previous year, if any; and
- severance received from the municipality in the previous year, if any.

Where must compensation information be published?

Under Section 215.2(1) of the MGA, municipalities must publish the information on their website. No additional provincial requirements regarding website placement have been established at this time.

How can municipalities correct or amend compensation information after it has been submitted or published?

Municipal Affairs is developing reporting processes, including approaches for correcting or amending submitted information.

Will Municipal Affairs publish municipal compensation information on a provincial website?

Section 215.2(7) of the MGA permits the Minister to publish or otherwise make available all or part of the information provided by municipalities.

Scope of Disclosure

Would chief elected officials (mayors/reeves) and councillors be captured by the salary disclosure requirements?

Part 6.1 of the MGA applies to employees. Elected officials are not considered to be employees of a municipality. Municipalities must continue to comply with existing financial statement disclosure requirements respecting councillors, chief administrative officers, and designated officers.

Are contracted or casual employees included in the disclosure requirements?

Part 6.1 establishes disclosure requirements based on whether an individual meets the applicable statutory definitions and compensation threshold. The legislation does not expressly distinguish between hourly and salaried employees. It is possible that a casual employee could be captured if their total compensation and severance exceed the applicable threshold. While independent contractors are not expressly covered, each municipality will have to evaluate the working relationship to determine if an individual's compensation is subject to reporting requirements. This could include determining whether an individual is an employee or an independent contractor, which may depend on the nature of the working relationship. Municipalities are responsible for determining how the requirements apply in their circumstances and may wish to seek legal advice where required.

Can a municipality withhold some information, such as an employee's position, appointment, or classification, from its disclosure report?

No. Section 215.2(1)(b) of the MGA requires municipalities to publish the employee's position, appointment, or classification for employees whose compensation and severance exceeds the applicable threshold. Municipal Affairs has not yet established a prescribed disclosure format.

Benefits and Severance

Are non-monetary benefits included when determining whether the threshold is met?

No, non-monetary benefits are not used to determine whether the threshold has been exceeded. However, non-monetary benefits must be reported separately for individuals whose compensation or severance exceeds the threshold.

How should municipalities determine whether a particular benefit is a non-monetary benefit?

Section 215.1(c) of the MGA defines a 'non-monetary benefit' as the total amount or value of non-monetary benefits provided by the municipality that is not required, for tax purposes, to be included in the employee's income, and includes the municipality's portion of pension contributions in respect of the employee. Municipalities are responsible for determining how the definition applies to the benefits they provide and may wish to seek legal advice where required.

Are employer contributions such as Canada Pension Plan (CPP) or Workers' Compensation Board (WCB) considered non-monetary benefits.

Section 215.1(c) of the MGA expressly includes the municipality's portion of pension contributions in the definition of non-monetary benefits. The legislation does not specifically address employer CPP contributions or WCB premiums. Alberta public-sector compensation disclosure practices may treat employer CPP contributions, WCB premiums, and other employer-paid statutory contributions as non-monetary benefits for disclosure purposes.

However, Part 6.1 of the MGA does not specifically address all these contributions, and municipalities are responsible for determining how the legislative definition applies in their circumstances. Municipalities may wish to seek legal advice where additional interpretation is required.

Are municipalities required to provide severance agreements or employment contracts?

No – Part 6.1 does not require municipalities to submit employment contracts or severance agreements as part of compensation disclosure reporting. Supporting documentation may only be required if requested through an audit or compliance review.

If an employee repays all or part of a severance payment, how should that repayment be reflected in compensation disclosure reporting?

Part 6.1 of the MGA does not specifically address situations where an employee repays all or a portion of a severance payment after it has been paid or disclosed. Municipalities are responsible for determining how the legislative requirements apply in their circumstances and may wish to seek legal, financial, or accounting advice where required.

Are municipalities required to disclose if an employee is paid severance in a subsequent year and it is the only amount paid to the employee?

It is possible that severance paid to an employee could be paid in a calendar year where it is the employee's only compensation. It is also possible the severance payment could put the employee's total compensation for that calendar year over the threshold. Therefore, it is possible a severance payment could trigger the requirement to disclose, depending on when it is paid.

Disclosure Exemption Requests

Can an employee be exempted from disclosure?

Yes, pursuant to Section 215.2(4) of the MGA, municipalities may apply to the Deputy Minister to exempt an employee or class of employees from disclosure where publication may unduly threaten their safety. Exemption requests that cannot demonstrate this risk of disclosure will not be considered.

What qualifies for an exemption?

The Deputy Minister may grant an exemption where publishing an employee's or class of employees' information could unduly threaten their safety. The MGA does not establish detailed criteria for applying this test; however, further guidance will be forthcoming shortly. It is anticipated the applicant will need to demonstrate the presence of a concrete and realistic safety threat, a logical connection between disclosure and the threat, and a reasonable expectation that harm will occur.

What information will be required to support an exemption request?

The MGA does not prescribe an application form, establish necessary supporting evidence, or information requirements for an exemption request. Additional information will be provided as implementation decisions are finalized. It is anticipated applicants will be required to provide information supporting their request and explaining why disclosure could reasonably be expected to result in a threat to their safety or well-being. While each request will be assessed on its own facts, the exemption is intended for situations involving a demonstrable risk of harm rather than general concerns about disclosure or the possibility of unwanted attention.

Is there a deadline for submitting exemption requests?

The exemption request process is still under development. Additional information, including any applicable timelines and submission requirements, will be provided as implementation decisions are finalized.

Who submits an exemption request, the employee or the municipality?

Pursuant to Section 215.2(4) of the MGA, a municipality – not an individual employee – may apply to the Deputy Minister to exempt an employee or class of employees from disclosure where publication may unduly threaten their safety. Municipalities are responsible for determining whether to submit an exemption request on behalf of an employee or class of employees.

Privacy and Records Management

What privacy and records management considerations should municipalities be aware of?

Municipalities remain responsible for managing records and personal information in accordance with applicable legislation and local policies. Municipal Affairs is continuing to develop implementation materials and further guidance will be provided prior to the first reporting cycle. Municipalities may wish to seek legal advice regarding questions specific to their circumstances.

Re: Pacific Link – Engagement Regarding Proposed Corridor

We are writing to introduce Pacific Link (formerly the West Coast Oil Pipeline), and to begin a direct conversation with your government about the proposed Project corridor.

On October 1, 2026, Prime Minister Mark Carney announced that the Government of Canada officially listed Pacific Link (the Project), as a project of national interest under the Building Canada Act (BCA).

The Pacific Link pipeline is being advanced by the Government of Canada (through the Crown Corporation Trans Mountain Corporation), the Government of Alberta (through the Alberta Petroleum Marketing Commission) and Pembina Pipeline Corporation. Trans Mountain will design, develop, and construct the Project, and make regulatory submissions to receive permits to operate the Project.

The Project is a proposed interprovincial pipeline to transport approximately one million barrels per day of Canadian crude oil from Bruderheim, Alberta to a deepwater port near Delta, British Columbia where the oil would be transferred to vessels and shipped to global markets. The proposed corridor largely aligns with disturbed land and existing infrastructure, including the existing Trans Mountain pipeline system, which it follows where practicable. The Project design is not finalized. The route and the siting of the facilities are still in development and will be refined through engagement with your community.

This fall, Pacific Link will undertake direct, proponent-led engagement with local governments along the proposed corridor, during the early stages of project development. This phase is an opportunity to advance project development together, so that key issues and concerns regarding the routing of the proposed corridor can be identified and better addressed through project planning and design, prior to a submission being made to the Canada Energy Regulator (CER) in January 2027. The final corridor alignment will be informed by further technical and environmental assessment, as well as input from Indigenous communities, landowners, stakeholders, and local governments in Alberta and British Columbia.

Additional information about the Project and the regulatory process can be found attached as an appendix to this letter, or at pacificlinkpipeline.ca.

Pre-Submission Engagement

The pre-submission phase began once the Project was listed as a national interest project and will continue until the regulatory submission for conditions assessment under the BCA. Pacific Link is committed to engaging local governments and communities along the pipeline corridor from Alberta to coastal British Columbia. During this phase, we will be seeking your input on the proposed pipeline corridor.

Future phases of engagement will occur during the regulatory review process, and will include topics such as construction planning, access and traffic management, environmental and community effects, emergency preparedness and other matters that can inform project planning, mitigation and communications through development. Landowners, communities, and stakeholders will also have opportunities to ask questions, share local knowledge, and raise concerns as planning moves forward.

We will document all engagement to support the regulatory submission and the future Conditions Document, and will share with you how your feedback was considered. Key issues identified early will help shape the Project before the submission.

Next Steps

We anticipate submitting the project submission to the CER in January 2027. The submission will outline the proposed corridor and summarize engagement to date, including your input.

Following the regulatory submission, the Major Projects Office (MPO) will coordinate the regulatory review process, which will include public hearings led by the Commission of the CER. We will notify you regarding opportunities to participate in the process, and Pacific Link will continue proponent-led engagement with local communities throughout the regulatory review process. The MPO, supported by the CER, is targeting September 1, 2027 to finalize the Conditions Document.

We will follow up with further materials regarding the proposed corridor, and connect with you to seek input during the pre-submission phase. Our relationship with your community is very important to the Pacific Link Ownership Group, and we look forward to working with you as the Project advances. If you have any questions in the meantime, please e-mail info@pacificlinkpipeline.ca, and a member of our team will reach out.

Sincerely,

Pacific Link Team

Appendix: Additional Information

About Pacific Link

Pacific Link is a proposed interprovincial pipeline to transport approximately one million barrels per day of Canadian crude oil from Bruderheim, Alberta (approximately 50 km northeast of Edmonton) to a deepwater port near Delta, British Columbia (approximately 35 km south of Vancouver) where the oil would be transferred to vessels and shipped to global markets. The key components of Pacific Link include:

- A receipt tank terminal in Bruderheim, Alberta, where product will be received, measured, stored, and then pumped through the pipeline;
- A pipeline up to approximately 1,250 km in length;
- Power interconnection, transmission, and possible generation;
- Approximately 11 pump stations along the route to keep product flowing and maintain the required flow rate and pressure over long distances; and
- A delivery tanks terminal and offshore marine loading facility with capacity for Very Large Crude Carrier vessels (VLCCs) where product will be delivered, stored, and then loaded on to VLCCs.

The proposed corridor largely aligns with disturbed land and existing infrastructure, including the existing Trans Mountain pipeline system, which it follows where practicable. The Project design is not finalized. The route and the siting of facilities are still in development and will be refined through engagement with your community.

Further information about Pacific Link can be found at pacificlinkpipeline.ca, and general inquiries may be submitted to info@pacificlinkpipeline.ca.

The Regulatory Process

Now that the Project has been listed as a project of national interest under the Building Canada Act (BCA), it will proceed toward the regulatory review process. Trans Mountain, as the Project's proponent, will prepare and file with the Canada Energy Regulator (CER) a submission for Pacific Link. The submission is required to support the BCA regulatory review process.

Following the regulatory submission, the Major Projects Office (MPO) will coordinate the regulatory review process, which will include public hearings led by the Commission of the CER. These hearings will be a venue through which the technical, environmental, social, cultural, health, safety, and security elements of the project, as well as potential adverse effects on the rights of Indigenous Peoples, will be furthered reviewed and assessed. Following the completion of the regulatory review, the MPO, on the Minister's behalf, will issue a single Conditions Document setting legally enforceable conditions to the Proponent.

Bat House building was cancelled due to low registration.

Village of Spring Lake

CAO Report – November 2026

2027 Preliminary Budget

Administration is preparing the preliminary budget and asks Council to schedule a special meeting for late November or early December.

2027 Financial Reporting

Starting in 2027, the financial statements will show amounts owed in money separately from obligations the Village expects to fulfill through goods or services. The statements will present the approved budget and actual results on the same accounting basis. For example, spreading road costs over the years a road is used can help explain why a budget that covers cash needs may still show a deficit in the financial statements.

For the 2027 audit, Administration will review the Village's obligations and document the adjustments to the approved budget figures.

Firearms Bylaw No 415

Provincial approval is pending. Administration follows up monthly.

Intermunicipal Planning and Collaboration

Administration attended an Intermunicipal Collaborative Framework (ICF) workshop on November 4. The ICF meeting with Parkland is set for November 12, and the Intermunicipal Development Plan (IDP) meeting is set for November 26. Administration will apply to the Alberta Collaborative Partnership's Mediation and Cooperative Processes stream to fund both reviews and updates.

Spring Rose Park Wi-Fi

Hardware installation is confirmed for November 9.

Shady Crescent Land Purchase

Utilities, government departments, adjacent residents and Parkland County have 30 days to respond to referral letters. Administration will update Council at its December meeting.

Maple Court Road Upgrades

TriGen has yet to provide a repair date. Administration will ask the Village engineer to request a repair schedule in writing within five business days. If TriGen does not respond by the deadline, Administration will ask the engineer to escalate the matter to TriGen management and review the agreement for options to complete the repairs.

Mayor/CAO Meeting

Administration has scheduled a meeting for late February with the mayors and chief administrative officers of Spring Lake, the Wabamun summer villages, and Parkland County. Spring Lake had never taken part in these meetings before it was invited to attend and actively contribute to the discussions, starting with the last meeting held in 2024. The meetings give the municipalities a forum to discuss shared concerns and identify opportunities to work together for the benefit of their communities.
